

LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

TO WHOM SO EVER IT MAY CONCERN

Dear Sir/Mam,

I enthusiastically offer this letter in support of the holder of this letter for the internship/job opportunity available at your esteemed organisation. He was Intern in Data Analytics Internship at The Shaadi Times. Our best wishes are with such a candidate who is creative, industrious student who showed a natural flair for both Data Research, Representation and Presentation skills and unsurprisingly, showed very good performance during in this Internship.

I understand that interns are responsible for researching novel topics with limited supervision or support. In our company, candidates were regularly tasked with tackling new and exotic data research-based topics, relying on data available on public domains (internet) and/or generate their own data set to get a handle on challenging content. Candidate exhibited expert-level Analytic, and Processing skills and a facility with group-work and public speaking that is rare among students of this age.

While we had hundreds of students in this internship – many of whom plan to take up Data Analytics, Data Scientist Roles after college – I can remember few as talented as this candidate. I have no doubt about successful future of this bright candidate in your institution and offer my unqualified endorsement.

Please do not hesitate to contact me at info@theshaaditimes.com if there is any other information that I can provide.

Sincerely,

Amit Grover
